

Holistic Piping Solutions: Witzenmann at the ACHEMA 2024

From industrial piping to high-end hydrogen applications: Witzenmann will be exhibiting at this year's ACHEMA in Frankfurt am Main from 10 to 14 June 2024, presenting its comprehensive range of end-to-end solutions for customised piping systems.

ACHEMA 2024, the world's leading trade fair for the process industry, opens its doors on 10 June 2024 and invites manufacturers and service providers from over 50 countries to exchange ideas and exciting formats. As the world's leading expert in the safe and efficient transmission of media and energy for mobility and industry, Witzenmann will also be there to inform interested parties about the company's broad portfolio.

Holistic piping solutions

From planning and production to monitoring, Witzenmann offers comprehensive products and services for all aspects of pipework. In planning, this includes system scanning, calculation and engineering. In addition to the production of flexible pipe elements and pipe supports, Witzenmann also enables the monitoring of pipe networks using SMART.WI. technology. This intelligent solution makes it possible to continuously and digitally monitor the operating status of important functional elements via the SMART.WI. portal. This increases plant safety and reduces operating costs in the long term.

Hydrogen as a topic of the future

Hydrogen is a key element for climate neutrality and the energy transition. With over 30 years of experience in hydrogen applications, Witzenmann ensures the safe transport of the element. Witzenmann's products are used along the entire hydrogen value chain, from the production, storage
